

Email Etiquettes

LONG VS SHORT EMAILS

CHOOSING THE RIGHT SUBJECT LINE

What is the tone of the following email?

Caught the latest Spielberg flick last nite.
Wow and Wow and >>WOW!!!<<

The special fx are just TREMENJOUS!!!

-- N

Email Etiquette

- Answer swiftly. If the email is complicated then send a reply saying that the email has been received and that you will get back to them.
- Do not overuse reply all.
- Use proper spellings.
- Avoid abbreviations, emoticons and exclamation marks.

Using the Bcc field

- It helps protect the privacy of people.
- However, if the 'To' field is blank it might look like spamming to the recipients.

Using the CC field

- People in the 'To' field need to act on the message.
- People in the CC field need to be informed about the message.

Subject Line

- The subject line you settle on must be informative.
- It is a waste of time to fill the subject line with useless words like Hi! or Information or a Question.
- Do not include the word urgent in your subject line, unless your message really does urgently involve someone's life or security – or, in a strictly business context, a deadline.
- Writing urgent just to draw attention to yourself, or just to try to pressure your recipient is wrong.

Some useful subject lines

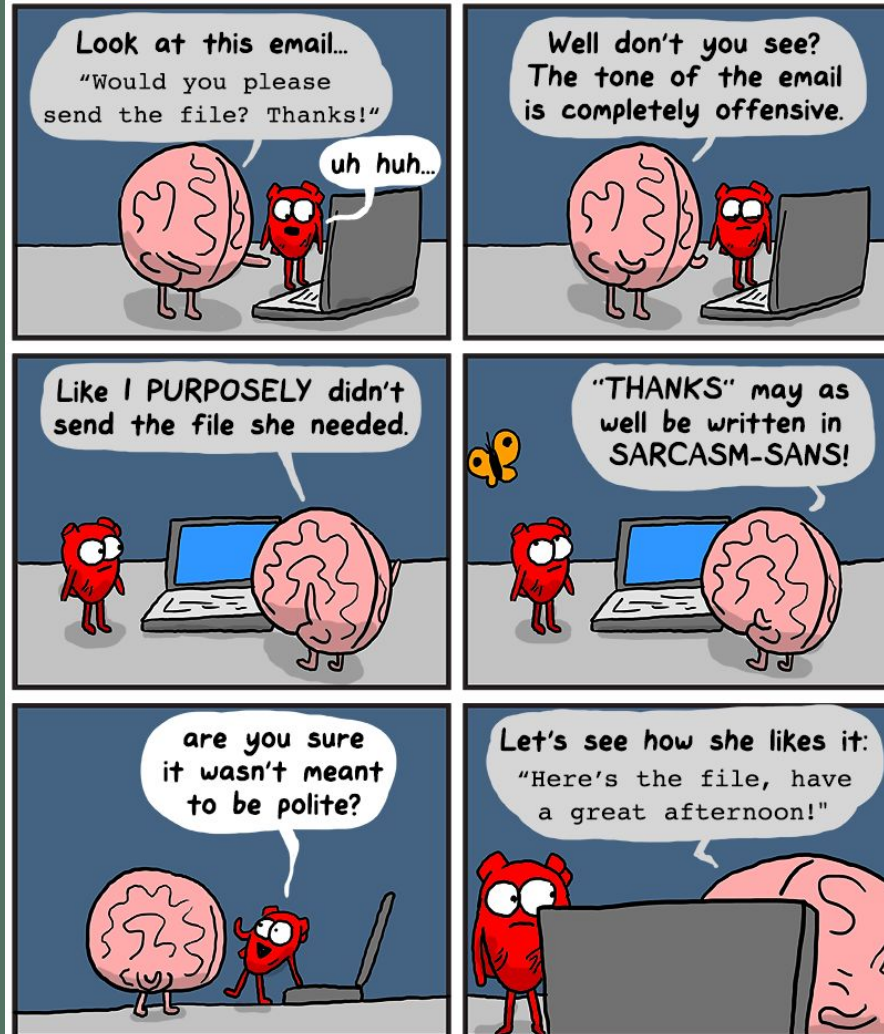

- If your message is a request for action, then you would be wise to start the subject line with 'Req:'.
- An example: Req: Open Day desk on Saturday
- If your message is purely for information, and it requires no response of any kind from your recipients, then you should start the subject line with 'FYI:', which stands for 'for your information'.
- An example: FYI: Open Day desk on Saturday

Making a request

- Could you please provide us with more information so that we can discuss it and get back to you?
- Would it be possible to meet and discuss this issue by Friday.
- Would you be able to give us a copy of your report from yesterday's presentation?
- I am looking for more information about our sales numbers during 2015, and I was wondering if you would be able to provide this to us?

Heart and Brain

THE AWKWARD YETI

Level of politeness in an email

- Very polite
 - I would be grateful if you could send me ...
 - I would appreciate if you could ...
- Polite
 - Could you please ... ?
- polite but direct
 - Could you send me ... ?
 - Would you be able to ... ?
- more direct
 - Please send me ...
 - Please meet me ...

Sending an attachment

- Please find attached the 2015 wage summary report”
- “I am enclosing a copy of the report with this email for your perusal.”
- “Enclosed with this email you will find a copy of your 2015 tax return.”
- “Attached is the agenda for Thursday’s meeting, as per your request.”

Common phrases to end an email

- "I am hoping to hear from you at your earliest convenience."
- "Please have a look over the attached project proposal and let me know your feedback."
- "I look forward to hearing from you."
- "Please let me know if you have any questions about this email."
- "Thank you for your support!"

Signature Line

- The signature option allows you to type in the signature of your choice.

EXAMPLE:

Katherine M. Garner

Commissioning Editor

Hobsbaum Publishers

22–24 Old London Road

Brighton

East Sussex BN1 7RR UK

Katie.Garner@hobsbaum.co.uk

Tel: 01273–929292 (from UK); +44–1273–929292 (from abroad)

Fax: 01273–926457 (from UK); +44–1273–926457 (from abroad)

Mobile: 07799–834854

URL: <http://www.hobsbaum.co.uk/html>

Don't include this in emails

- Look how witty/clever/important I am.
- I need to express my personality.
- I'm going to give you a piece of my mind.

- I'm not really dealing with a human being here.
- Everybody's familiar with my language and my culture.
- Everybody enjoys my sense of humour.

- Everybody remembers every word of my emails.
- Everybody is healthy and has perfect eyesight.
- Email is not subject to the laws covering other communications.

Activity 1

- Rank the following salutations on a scale of 1-5.
- 5 for most formal
- 1 for most informal

1. Dear Mr. Singh,
2. Dear Aditi,
3. Hello Ms. Kapoor.
4. Dear colleagues,
5. Hi Manya,
6. Thomas,
7. (No salutation. Just begin the email)
8. Hello everyone!

1. Yours sincerely,
2. Cheers,
3. Thanks!
4. Sincerely,
5. Regards,
6. [Name only]

ACTIVITY 2

- https://elt.oup.com/student/businessoneone/int/a_emailpractice/?srsltid=AfmBOoqk30Z8nsWcaQJANUspEPC8QU4WT_feoWM5nkf9SraeXcs_Bdm3&cc=us&selLanguage=en

Activity 3

Rewrite this email

Dear Sir/madam,

I am a postgraduate from DAIICT college. I got a degree in technology and would now like to use it .Your company looks interesting. Can I come in for an interview? I have a lot of experience from my schooling and extracurriculars. I think I can help the company a lot. Please respond to my email to let me know.

Thanks,

(name)

Answer

- Dear Hiring Manager,

My name is _____. I recently graduated from DAICT College with a Masters of Technology degree and a specialization/concentration in Machine Learning. I was recommended to contact you concerning job opportunities by my advisor Dr._____.

I believe that I would be an excellent candidate for the job. I have taken many courses to prepare me for a job in marketing. These courses include (mention the courses). I have also recently interned at Google as an Internet Marketing Researcher. Through my many marketing classes and internship, I have learned to be a strong team member who values time management and communication.

I believe that I can be a valued asset to your company. My phone number and alternative email are listed below. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

(name)

Email,

Phone

Rewrite this email

Hello Professor Smith,

I'm sorry to tell you but I'm sick and will not be able to come to class.
See ya Wednesday.

Jason

Answer

Dear Professor _____,

I am sorry to inform you that I will not be able to attend class today because I am ill. Would it be possible for you to let me know what I have missed? Thank you for your help and I will see you in class on Wednesday.

Sincerely,

(Name of student)

Write to a representative of another organization to arrange a meeting.
Prepare the situation using the questions below. The information can be real or Imaginary.

1. What is your organization? What services do you offer?
2. What is the meeting about? Why is it happening?
3. Who are you writing to? Why do they need to be at the meeting?
4. What day, time and place will you suggest? (e.g. your own office)
5. Do you need to include a reference to where your organization is, or how to find
6. it?
7. Do you need to include a reference to how they will get to the meeting? (e.g.
8. pickup)
9. Do you want them to take any action before the meeting? Ideas: bring something; prepare something; tell you about possible agenda items.
10. Ask for a quick reply.

Scenario options

- Plant an event together.
- Pitch a collaboration.
- Start a community project with a local NGO.

Instructions

- When you finish, send the email to the person sitting next to you.
- Check each other's grammar, spelling, punctuation and style.
- Is everything clear, well-structured and easy to understand?

Follow up

1. Thank them for their email.
2. Agree that the meeting is important.
3. Say that the time is not good for you, and suggest an alternative.
4. Apologize for any inconvenience caused
5. Say that you will call them to finalise the arrangements.
6. Respond to any other points in the email you received.

Activity 5

Change the following from informal English into formal English

Informal	Formal
Can you send me the minutes from yesterday's meeting?	I was wondering if you could please provide me with the minutes from yesterday's meeting? or Could you please provide me with the minutes from yesterday's meeting when you get a chance?
Sorry, I can't make it tomorrow.
See you next week.
Don't forget to make sure all the participants sign in at the door.
I'm sorry to tell you that our facilities are not available next week.
About the information you wanted, unfortunately we cannot provide it to you.	